Local Area Profile

This document is the North East Derbyshire District Council Local Area Profile, as described in the Council's Sex Establishment Policy.

This Local Area Profile is published by the Council concurrently with the Sex Establishment Policy and is published on our website.

Whilst there is no mandatory requirement to have a Local Area Profile, there are a number of significant benefits to both the Licensing Authority and operators, in having a better awareness of the local area and risks.

The Council's policy statement sets out its approach to regulation. The Local Area Profile runs alongside the Licensing statement, this is to ensure that this profile can be reviewed and updated regularly without the need for full consultation.

North East Derbyshire District Council

North East Derbyshire is a local government district in Derbyshire, England. It borders the districts of Chesterfield, Bolsover, Amber Valley and Derbyshire Dales in Derbyshire, and Sheffield and Rotherham in South Yorkshire.

We have a population of around 102,000 and have four main towns, Clay Cross, Dronfield, Eckington and Killamarsh. There are a further 46 settlements within the District which consists of more than 20 dwellings.

The District has good road, rail and air connections with M1 junctions, Train stations in the District and five international airports nearby.

The largest Town is Dronfield which is located in the north of the District and has a population of just over 21,000. The industrial history of the town includes coal mining, the wool trade, the production of soap and steel, and engineering. Today a range of manufacturing firms still operate within the town.

Dronfield has the greatest concentration of facilities and services. It provides good levels of public transport which includes its own railway station.

The next largest settlement in the District is Clay Cross which is located in the south of the District which has a population of just over 9,000. Clay Cross has a good level of facilities, services and public transport.

Dronfield and Clay Cross are followed in size and service provisions by the towns of Eckington and Killamarsh which have their own town centres and which play an important role in serving the day to day shopping and other requirements of the local community and surrounding settlements.

Settlements throughout the District are of a mixed character, some of which are mainly characterised by older properties and other areas are a mix of housing types. Some settlements have listed buildings and are designated as a Conservation areas. The District's settlements have grown and evolved over time, reflecting changes associated with occupations such as mining and agriculture which lends to a diverse and unique character of the District.

At the time of this Local Area Profile being published North East Derbyshire District Council has no licensed sex establishments within the district.
